STATINTL

Dear Mr. [redacted]

I want to thank you for hosting the visit of the School of Foreign Service student group to the Agency on March 12 and for arranging the interesting and informative briefings on Iran, Cuba and the role of the intelligence community in foreign policy formulation.

I believe that the students enjoyed the visit immensely and hope that the School will be able to offer this type of field trip on an annual basis.

Again, thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Putnam M. Ebinger
Assistant Dean

Dear Mr. [redacted]

Please find enclosed the list of School of Foreign Service Students who will be visiting the Central Intelligence Agency on the morning of February 22, 1979.

In regard to the current affairs briefings, I would suggest any of the following topics:

- Implications of the Iranian revolution for U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East
- Problems of surveillance in SALT
- The role of intelligence in the nuclear energy/nuclear proliferation question
- U.S. -- Cuban relations: Soviet weapons transfers and the role of Cuba in Southern Africa and the Horn
- Intelligence gathering during the current Indochina crisis

Of course, you may have planned the briefings before your trip this week. I feel certain that with the diverse group of students, any number of topics will provide an interesting and worthwhile discussion.

Sincerely,

Putnam M. Ebinger
Assistant Dean

STATINTL

Dear

I am writing on behalf of Dean Krogh to ask your assistance in arranging a field trip to the Central Intelligence Agency for undergraduate students of the School of Foreign Service. We have had a number of requests for a tour and briefing session at the Agency from members of our student body and would like to respond to their interest in the role of the intelligence community in foreign policy formulation.

We could plan to come to the Agency for a morning or afternoon session of three to five briefings sometime during the week of February 20-23, 1979. As you may know, the School will have a holiday on the Monday of that week, but any other day could be easily arranged. I would hope that we could accommodate fifty students, but can keep the group to a limited number if necessary.

I would very much appreciate any help that you could give me in arranging such a field trip.

Sincerely,
